

Using Improvisation to Create Original Works

with Tim Stoltenberg

Learn about the art of improvisation and how it can lead to the creation of works of art around social change. Improv encourages students to think creatively while tapping into their personal emotions and experiences to express themselves in a new way.

February 17, 2010 · 7:00 - 8:30pm

CPDUs available · FREE

Click here to register

Contact Aimee-Lynn Newlan, Outreach Manager, with any questions at aimeelynn@metropolisarts.com or 847.577.5982 x230

Applied Theatre in the Classroom

with Sarah Rose Graber

Learn the basics of applying some principles of theatre in your classroom. Through drama and role-play your students will develop cooperation skills, gain self-confidence, analyze situations and characters, think and listen critically, and problem solve. These newly learned skills will open doors to new learning experiences for any student.

March 17, 2010 · 7:00 - 8:30pm

CPDUs available · FREE

Click here to register

Contact Aimee-Lynn Newlan, Outreach Manager, with any questions at aimeelynn@metropolisarts.com or 847.577.5982 x230